

Kim Tserkezie

Kim Tserkezie is an actor, producer, presenter and writer.

She has worked in television for 25 years.

Kim's first jobs in television were presenting the BBC programmes 'Disability Today' and 'From The Edge'.

She also played the character Penny Pocket in four series of the children's television programme 'Balamory'.

In 2020, Kim won a Royal Television Society Award for best drama performance. This was for a programme called 'Obsession'.

Kim started and manages Scattered Pictures, a television company which works with people who don't normally get a chance to speak up.

Kim has written:

- for the BBC, ITV and Channel 4

- a children's book called 'The Wheelie Wonderful Life of Millie Monroe'.

Kim works to make sure people with disabilities are included in television, both on the screen and behind the scenes.

Website:

www.scatteredpictures.net

Twitter:

- www.twitter.com/KimTserkezie
- www.twitter.com/ScatteredPicsUK

Facebook:

- www.facebook.com/kim.tserkezie
- www.facebook.com/scatteredpicturesuk

Instagram:

- www.instagram.com/ktserkezie/
- www.instagram.com/scatteredpicturesuk/

LinkedIn: www.linkedin.com/in/kim-tserkezie-9981981a/

Easy Read by easy-read-online.co.uk